Dear Customer,

DIXI POLYTOOL values its reputation as a high quality, responsible supplier that does business with companies that share our commitment to ethical business practices, values and compliance with international regulations.

We share your commitment to avoid contributing to human rights violation or anywhere in the world and are sending you this letter to address possible concerns that you may have about complying with the regulations on conflict minerals that are expected to be released.

We certify that DIXI POLYTOOL does not use or purchase any raw material used in the manufacturing of his tools or other finished goods. Our Purchasing and Quality departments work closely with our suppliers to ensure that the minerals they provide us don't come from conflict countries.

If you have further questions concerning conflict free smelter due diligence, please contact me.

Sincerely,

Olivier Perrin

DIXI POLYTOOL Quality Manager
